“Some men, with the help of science and financial support have travelled all the distance from the skin of man to the surface of the moon. We are attempting something far more difficult, i.e to go from the skin of man to the inside of man, in order to know better the road towards ourselves and the road towards others so that we can achieve a greater awareness of the marvel of our daily life, and thus learn how to live in greater harmony with other people and to share our life with them”

(an excerpt from the Foundational Charism of the Cursillo in Christianity Movement)

“The raison d’etre is that some friends of mine have considered it advisable that my books and notes are not lost when I die”.
